

CMA - CERTIFIED MANAGEMENT ACCOUNTANT Training Program

Certified Management Accountant (CMA)

The CMA is a prestigious global certificate awarded by IMA to professionals who demonstrated mastery in financial planning, analysis, control, decision support and strong professional ethics. The certification dates back in 1972, when IMA (formerly known as National Association of Cost Accountants (NACA)), began to provide professional recognition to management accountants that would be comparable to the designation of a Certified Public Accountant (CPA). Having CMA certified professionals is a great help in the business industry as they can improve the efficiency of operation and management and the financial situation of a company.

Institute of Management Accountants (IMA)

The IMA is the premier body that awards the certification in management accountancy. This professional body is located in New Jersey and boasts of about 60,000 members all across the world. Its main agenda is to further advance the role of the management accountants in the business world. The body provides the candidate with the necessary qualification, and thus arms the candidate with the sufficient knowledge as well as skills that can be used in the real life business scenario.

CMA Objectives:

- To establish management accounting as a recognized profession by identifying the role of the management accountant and financial manager, the underlying body of knowledge, and course of study by which such know-ledge is acquired.

- To encourage higher educational standards in the management accounting field.
- To establish an objective measure of an individual's knowledge and competence in the field of management accounting.
- To encourage continued professional development by management accountants.

Eligibility Criteria
