Why should you attend?

Cybersecurity threats targeting IACS are increasing in sophistication, scale, and impact. The most effective defense against these risks is the systematic implementation and management of industrial cybersecurity controls and best practices. In today's environment, strong IACS security is also a core expectation of regulators, customers, and other stakeholders.

This training course is designed to prepare participants to implement and manage an IACS security program based on the ISA/IEC 62443 series of standards. It provides a comprehensive understanding of the best practices, processes, and life cycle management principles required to establish, maintain, and continually improve an organization's industrial cybersecurity posture.

After attending the training course, you can take the exam. If you successfully pass it, you can apply for the "PECB Certified ISA/IEC 62443 Lead Implementer" credential, which demonstrates your ability and practical knowledge to implement and manage an IACS security program based on the requirements of the ISA/IEC 62443 standards.
